Grandparents honored at annual luncheon

ATLANTA – Project Healthy Grandparents will honor the grandparents and the grandchildren who participate in the program, as well as all the grandparents around the country and the world who are raising their grandchildren, during their annual luncheon. The presenting sponsor for the event is Aaron’s, Inc. Additional sponsors include: Publix Supermarket Charities, TAOS IT Solutions, Eric Hardaway, Senator Emanuel Jones and Legacy Ford, and Xerox Corporation.

Keynote speaker for the luncheon is Billy Michael Honor, Jr., M. Div., an emerging contemporary Christian scholar who was raised by his great grandmother, Minnie Lee Branch, affectionately known as “MaDea.” “MaDea” raised 10 grandchildren before she passed away in 2005.

Project Healthy Grandparents has served 665 families and 1,520 children during its 14-year existence.
